Fire in as Brooklyn Saloon Looks Dr. Olney's Friends Scout the Like Arson.

Manager Philip Reilly Arrested and Held.

Fire Marshal Lawis, of Brooklyn, is investigating what appears to be a case of arson. About 3.45 o'clock this mornfire slightly damaged the saloon at 71 Atlantic avenue, owned by Mary E. Reilly and managed by her brother, Philip.

Melly and managed by her brother, Philip.
Detective Stoddart and Officer Johnson, of the Fifteenth Precinct, found a bowl partially filled with kerosene oil under the bar, one place where the fire seemed to have started, and several plates filled with oil near by. The two feet of open space between the top of the ice-box in the cellar and the harroom floor was found filled with paper and rags.
Philip Reilly was near the saloon when the firemen arrived, and was arrested. He says he locked the place up about 1.30 this morning.

THEODORE FRANK HELD.

He Struck an Old Man and Fractured

Justice Goetting, in the Lee Avenue Court, Williamsburg, to-day held Theodors Frank, of 45 Bartlett atreet, to await the result of injuries he is said to have inflicted upon Henry F. Marchellus, of 43 Bartlett street. Frank is a young man and Marchellus is old enough to be his grandfather. Saturday afternoon Frank beat a carpet and threw it over the fence which divides his yard from that of Marchellus. The latter, it is alleged, struck Frank with a broom. The young man picked up a stone and knocked Marchellus down with it, fracturing his skull.

Marchellus is in the Eastern District Hospital to-day, and is expected to die at any time.
